

Mary C. Mulry, Ph.D., Consulting Chief Science Officer

Our flagship product, Body Balance, has been supporting health and wellness for over 24 years. This product is a unique combination of high-quality Aloe vera and our proprietary blend of nine sea vegetables; SeaNine. We have combined these products in a great-tasting, cherry-flavored, liquid whole-food supplement.

Aloe Vera

There is a very impressive array of scientific research on Aloe vera and its health-promoting properties. As a topical solution, it is well known for its ability to promote healing for cuts and burns. Internal consumption provides antioxidants, including vitamins A and C.

There is ample research to support its use for:

- immune system support
- digestive health support
- promoting general health and wellness
- increasing the bioavailability of other nutrients in the digestive tract

Life Force buys only the best Aloe vera. Our particular product is only supplied to Life Force and not to any other company. It is sourced from the inner leaf of the Aloe plant where the highest quality Aloe vera gel comes from. Our Aloe is grown according to the principles of organic agriculture (no synthetic pesticides or fertilizers) at the base of a volcanic mountain in Mexico. These fertile fields are full of trace minerals important for our health and wellness.

Our Aloe carries the certification of the International Aloe Science Council (IASC), so you can be sure that it has been independently tested for its authenticity and contains important dietary principals for maximum health and wellness. The inner-leaf gel of the Aloe plant is thought to contain important long-chain polysaccharides called mucopolysaccharides, which support the growth of beneficial bacteria in the digestive tract and enhance the functioning of the immune system.

Sea Vegetables

Our SeaNine vegetable blend is a proprietary formula unique to Body Balance and not provided to any other company. Our sea vegetables are carefully harvested from pristine waters, gently dried and ground to a fine, high-quality powder that is blended with Aloe vera.

Sea vegetation has been known for centuries to contain many trace minerals that are difficult to get from land plants. The sea's chemistry is similar to that of our blood, so the trace mineral profiles of the sea vegetables in Body Balance are also similar to our blood's profiles. Our SeaNine vegetable blend includes representation from red, brown and green sea vegetables. These sea vegetables were chosen in part because of the different microclimates and depths in the ocean in which they grow, garnering a broad spectrum of nutrients from the sea.

Many sea vegetables and their extracts are being studied by scientists for their health-supporting properties. Alongside important trace minerals, such as iodine, there are also long-chain polysaccharides and other compounds in sea vegetables that are important for supporting general health and wellness.

The Japanese and other Asian cultures have been known to have up to 25 percent of their diets contain some type of sea vegetation. They live longer than most other cultures in the world, and they have more than 21,000 people that are currently over 100 years old.

The Combination

We know that this great-tasting liquid food supplement is a unique combination of high quality ingredients only available from Life Force International. Many users of Body Balance have told us of their individual stories of return to or enhanced wellness after using Body Balance. You can confidently recommend this whole-food supplement and continue to enhance people's lives and spur them on to better health and wellness.

